Universal Declaration of Human Rights Preamble Whereas recognition of the inherent dignity and of the equal and inalienable rights of all members of the human family is the foundation of freedom, justice and peace in the world, Whereas disregard and contempt for human rights have resulted in barbarous acts which have outraged the conscience of mankind, and the advent of a world in which human beings shall enjoy freedom of speech and belief and freedom from fear and want has been proclaimed as the highest aspiration of the common people, Whereas it is essential, if man is not to be compelled to have recourse, as a last resort, to rebellion against tyranny and oppression, that human rights should be protected by the rule of law, Whereas it is essential to promote the development of friendly relations between nations, Whereas the peoples of the United Nations have reaffirmed their faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person and in the equal rights of men and women and have determined to promote social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom, Whereas Member States have pledged themselves to achieve, in cooperation with the United Nations, the promotion of universal respect for and observance of human rights and fundamental freedoms, Whereas a common understanding of these rights and freedoms is of the greatest importance for the full realization of this pledge, Now, therefore, The General Assembly, Proclaims this Universal Declaration of Human Rights as a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations, to the end that every individual and every organ of society, keeping this Declaration constantly in mind, shall strive by teaching and education to promote respect for rights and freedoms and by progressive measures, national and international, to secure their universal and effective recognition and observance, both among the peoples of Member States themselves and among the peoples of territories under their jurisdiction. Article 1 All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in a spirit of brotherhood. Article 2 Everyone is entitled to all the rights and freedoms set forth in this Declaration, without distinction of any kind, such as race, colour, sex, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status. Furthermore, no distinction shall be made on the basis of the political, jurisdictional or international status of the country or territory to which a person belongs, whether it be independent, trust, non-self-governing or under any other limitation of sovereignty. Article 3 Everyone has the right to life, liberty and one shall be held in slavery or servitude; slavery and the slave trade shall be prohibited in all their forms. Article 4 No one shall be subjected to torture or to cruel, inhuman or Article 6 Everyone has the right to recognition everywhere as a person before the law. Article 7 All are degrading treatment or punishment. he law. All are entitled to equal protection against any discrimination in violation of this Declaration and against any discrimination to effective remedy by the competent national tribunals for acts violating the fundamental rights granted him by the Article 8 Everyone has the right to an Article 10 Everyone is entitled in full equality to a fair and public hearing by an independent and impartial tribunal, in arbitrary arrest, detention or exile. Everyone charged with a penal offence has the right to be presumed innocent until according to law in a public trial at which Article 11 1. any penal offence on proved guilty according to law in a he has had all the guarantees necessary for his shall be held guilty of one that was omission which did not constitute a penal offence, under national or international law, at the time when it was committed. Nor shall a applicable at the time the penal offence was committed. Article 12 No one shall be subjected to arbitrary interference with his privacy, family, Everyone has the right attacks upon his honour and reputation. Everyone interference or attacks. Article 13 1. to the protection of the law against such and residence within the borders of each State. 2. Everyone has the right to leave any country, including his own, and to return to his country. Article 14 1. Everyone has the right to seek and to enjoy in other countries asylum from persecution. 2. This right may not be invoked in the case of prosecutions genuinely arising from non-political crimes or from acts contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations. Article 15 1. Everyone has the right to a nationality. 2. No one shall be of his nationality nor deprived of his nationality. Article 16 1. Men and without any change his nationality. women, of full age, have the right found a family. They race, nationality or religion, to marry and to are entitled to equal rights as to marriage, during marriage and at its dissolution. entered into only with the free and full consent 2. family is the natural and fundamental of the intending group and association with others. 2. No one spouses. 3. The shall be arbitrarily deprived of his property. Article 18 Everyone has the right to freedom of change his religion or belief, and freedom, either alone or in community with others and in public or thought, conscience and religion; the right to freedom of opinion and expression; this right includes freedom to change his religion or belief in Everyone has the right to take Article 20 1. Everyone has the right to freedom of peaceful assembly and association. 2. No one may be compelled public service in his country. 3. The will of the people shall be the basis of the directly or through freely chosen representatives. 2. Everyone has the right of equal access to held by secret vote or by equivalent free voting procedures. Article 22 Everyone, shall be expressed in periodic and genuine elections which shall be by universal and equal suffrage and shall be co-operation and in organization and resources of right to social security and is entitled to realization, through national effort and international accordance with the right to work, to free social and cultural rights indispensable for his dignity and the free development of his personality. Article 23 1. pay for equal work. favourable conditions of work and to protection against Everyone, without Everyone has the necessary, by other unemployment. 2. any discrimination, just and favourable remuneration ensuring for himself and his family an has the right to rest and leisure, including has the right to form and to join trade existence worthy of human dignity, and Everyone has the well-being of himself unions for the protection of his Everyone has the right to equa and his family, hours and periodic Article 25 1. interests. Article 24 adequate for the sickness, disability, holidays with pay. Everyone has the right to a standard of living health and widowhood, old 4. Everyone has the right to food, clothing, adequate for the health and to security in the unemployment, age or other lack of has the right to form housing and medical event of circumstances beyond his control. 2. Motherhood and childhood are entitled to livelihood in special care and assistance. All children, whether born in or social protection. Article 26 1. Everyone has the right to education. Education shall be free, at least in the elementary and fundamental stages. Elementary education shall out of wedlock, shall enjoy the same education shall be made generally the elementary and merit. 2. Education be directed to the full be compulsory. Technical and professional made generally and to the strengthening of on the basis of understanding, tolerance and friendship development of the human personality available and higher technical education shall promote among all nations, racial or religious groups, and shall education shall be equally accessible to all have a prior right to choose the kind of education that shall be given to their children. Article 27 1. Everyone has the right freely to participate in the cultural life of the community, to enjoy the arts and to share in scientific advancement and its benefits. 2. Everyone has the right to the protection of the moral and material interests resulting from any scientific, literary or artistic production of which he is the author. Article 28 Everyone is entitled to a social and international order in which the rights and freedoms set forth in this Declaration can be fully realized. Article 29 1. Everyone has duties to the community in which alone the free and full development of his personality is possible. 2. In the exercise of his rights and freedoms, everyone shall be subject only to such limitations as are determined by law solely for the purpose of securing due recognition and respect for the rights and freedoms of others and of meeting the just requirements of morality, public order and the general welfare in a democratic society. 3. These rights and freedoms may in no case be exercised contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations. Article 30 Nothing in this Declaration may be interpreted as implying for any State, group or person any right to engage in any activity or to perform any act aimed at the destruction of any of the rights and freedoms set forth herein.